About the Mayor's Construction Academy

London has a growing construction skills shortage, and construction sector employers require a site-ready workforce to help build the homes Londoners need.

To make sure Londoners benefit from the wide range of opportunities available in the sector, the Mayor set up his Mayor's Construction Academy (MCA), connecting Londoners to training in the skills they need to access vacancies in the capital's developments, in trades, professions and management.

The MCA is doing this through:

1. A Quality Mark, which identifies and recognises high-quality construction skills training provision in London. This is quality in terms of the curriculum, routes into employment and strong links with employers.
2. Hubs to help Londoners, employers, training providers and the organisations supporting them both to connect more often, more quickly, and with better outcomes.
3. Investment for equipment and facilities to support the delivery of high-quality construction training in London. We will be investing in building information modelling, design for manufacture and assembly and virtual learning to help learners get practical skills in the trades earlier and faster.

The South East London Mayors Construction Academy Hub is a group of training providers based in South East London. They consist of:

- » London South East Colleges
- » Lewisham College
- » JTL Training
- » Shooters Hill 6th Form Academy
- » YouthBuild Ventures UK

Each provider is working collaboratively with the hub to provide pathways into construction for learners aged between 16- 65. Courses range from entry level bootcamps to degree apprenticeships.

This prospectus pulls together the course offer and outlines the essential information learners need when exploring their next steps.

If you are interested in any of the below courses please click on the relevant training providers to be taken to their home page.
